

Caverion secures a contract with VELUX Group to deliver technical facility management services and digital solutions in Denmark

Caverion Press release 1 July 2025 at 9:00 CET

Caverion has signed a five-year agreement with VELUX Group, a Danish-international roof window manufacturer, covering technical facility management services for all VELUX facilities in Denmark.

The contract is performance-based and includes technical facility management services, project management, remote services as well as Caverion SmartView, a digital customer platform. In addition to ensuring improved operational performance, through this agreement Caverion will support VELUX in working towards its sustainability goals.

“We are proud to be chosen by a renowned company such as VELUX as a long-term partner within technical facility management services. We are confident that with our strong technical capabilities combined with our local presence in Denmark we are able to support VELUX in the set targets. We are very much looking forward to our partnership”, says Carsten Sørensen, CEO of Caverion Denmark, EVP.

“We look forward to entering this partnership with Caverion, which includes facility services such as technical installations, building maintenance and fire inspections. Together, we are committed to reducing our energy consumption from buildings substantially within the next five years,” says Søren Valentin, Senior Director for Global Real Estate & Facility Services at VELUX Group.
